

CCI is excited to announce the addition of Ridgeline Archaeology to the Group of Companies.

November 20th, 2025

Ridgeline Archaeology has officially joined the CCI Group of Companies, expanding our capabilities and strengthening our range of services.

Ridgeline Archaeology is led by Cory Hackett, who has over fifteen years experience and has worked on over 3,500 heritage projects, is a qualified permit holder in British Columbia, Alberta, the Yukon, and the Northwest Territories and leads a team of over 25 archeologists and technicians throughout Western Canada.

Headquartered in Prince George and supported by multiple offices across Western Canada, Ridgeline offers a dynamic team of archaeologists and GIS specialists ready to deliver exceptional value to our projects.

Ridgeline Services:

- Heritage Conservation Act Compliance
- Archaeological Impact Assessments (AIA)
- Archaeological Overviews (AOA)
- Site Alteration Permits (SAP)
- Predictive Models and Inventories
- Drone Fly-Overs and Reconnaissance
- GIS and Mapping
- Historic and Ethnographic Research
- Traditional Local Knowledge (TEK)
